MASHOBRA, SHIMLA

Shimla also known as Simla, the official name until 1972 is the capital and the largest city of the Northern Indian state of Himachal Pradesh. The climatic conditions attracted the British to establish the city in the dense forests of the Himalayas. In 1864, Shimla was declared as the summer capital of British India.

Mashobra is part of Shimla Water Catchment Wildlife Sanctuary. The natural vegetation comprises Pine, Oak, Cedar or Himalayan deodar, and Rhododendrons, as well as Maple and Horse Chestnut. The wildlife consists of monkeys, colobines, jackals, kakkar (barking deer), and the occasional leopard, as well as numerous bird species such as the Himalayan eagle, pheasants, chukar and partridges.

At 3 km from Mashobra is Carignano, a picnic spot that was a villa of Chevalier Federico Peliti, an Italian photographer in India from the times of Queen Victoria, who named it in honor of his native town Carignano near Turin in Italy.
